

MUSICAL STORYTELLER BRINGS HIS MAGIC TO BRISBANE

Brisbane Powerhouse presents
Dan Sultan

If you don't know who Dan Sultan is yet you must have been living under a rock as his star is most definitely on the rise. Join this extraordinary, multi-instrumental singer-songwriter when he brings his band to Brisbane Powerhouse on Thursday 18 February.

Sultan is fast becoming a household name thanks to recent collaborations, touring, festivals and a starring role in the feature film Bran Nue Dae alongside Geoffrey Rush, Missy Higgins and Jessica Mauboy.

His second album Get Out While You Can, which was recently Triple J's 'Album of the Week' and went to number one on the Australian 100% Independent Charts, was recorded in Melbourne using a myriad of vintage equipment to create a supremely warm and genuine sound. It features several special guest performers including Killing Heidi's Ella Hooper and the legendary Vika and Linda Bull.

The title track was inspired by the tale of a couple soon to be separated by war. Their lifeline - someone who we would call a people smuggler today. The album soars from big band soul to outback country and beyond, exploring themes such as drug addiction, prison, skydiving and goddess worship.

Sultan's debut album Homemade Biscuits was funded by fellow musician, John Butler, who 'discovered' Sultan's extraordinary talent. This collaboration with guitarist and songwriter Scott Wilson was released independently in 2006 to rave reviews and their roots-blues-country rock fusion has won critical acclaim.

Sultan and his band have performed at practically every music festival around Australia, evoking emotion charged reactions from audiences at Port Fairy, Falls Festival, The East Coast Blues and Roots Festival as well as Black Arm Band at Sydney Opera House. He has also performed at the recent Kev Carmody and Paul Kelly tributes.

Don't miss this show and this unique and talented artist, playing for one night only on Thursday 18 February.
